

ROA Director Update
Friday, March 25th, 2016

Hello lovely ROA families,

Spring Break is here. Today is our first day of the break, so there are no classes and workshops and the office will be closed. We will be back in the office on Monday, April 4th at 7:30 am, and classes also resume for one more week on Monday, April 4th. We hope you will have a relaxing and enjoyable break and look forward to seeing you back in April.

5-Week Intersession for Workshops/Classes:

As promised, we have worked hard to email you the 5-week short session schedule and hope that you will find some great classes. As you may note, we have some new vendors and new classes: Budhi will be offering his drumming, dancing and mindfulness class; our own Beverly will offer a hand bell class and Diane will offer her art history class for the younger students as well. And of course, we are really happy to welcome some of our other most amazing vendors back for this short session as well.

Please note that we do reserve the right to make some changes in the schedule if needed. However, we assume that it will stay the way it is. The schedule is attached and sign-ups will open on Friday, April 8th at 8:00 am.
